THE MISSING INK: HOW HANDWRITING MADE US WHO WE ARE

Pan. 1 Paperback(s), 2012. soft. Book Condition: New. When London columnist and arts critic Philip Hensher realized that he had no idea what a close friend's handwriting looked like, he felt as though something was missing from their friendship; having abandoned pen and paper for keyboards, we have also given up one essential way by which we come to recognize and know another person. Hensher also the author of the Man Booker Prize finalist The Northern Clemency considers the history of handwriting...
