On one of the most quiet and deeply shaded of the shaded streets which are the boast of the pleasant Southern city of Alton, stands a handsome double house with a portico in front, and wide piazzas on the side, running the whole length of the building, and overlooking a flower-garden of considerable extent and great beauty. Opening by French windows upon the lower of these piazzas is the breakfast-room, into which, on a certain bright morning of May - the 5th of the month, if any one likes to be particular - roses of almost countless number and variety were sending their fragrance, together with the buoyant air and golden sunshine. The breakfast-table, spread with...
